MARCH EVENTS AT THE HARRIS CENTER CANCELLED DUE TO CORONAVIRUS

Cancellations include 36 events, from national tours to presentations from regional companies

(March 12, 2020, Folsom, CA) Based on the latest guidance from the California Department of Public Health and as announced by Governor Newsom on the evening of March 11, all performances at the Harris Center through March 31 have been cancelled effective 3/12/20.

“Here at the Harris Center, the safety of our patrons, artists and staff is our highest concern,” notes HC Executive Director Dave Pier. “This is an unprecedented crisis, but direction from state government and our own campus is unified and crystal clear.”

And the Harris Center is not alone. “Performing arts programs at Cal Performances at UC Berkeley, UCLA’s Center for the Art of Performance, Pepperdine University, Scripps College, UC San Diego, UC Santa Barbara, Mondavi Center at UC Davis and others have canceled performances in response to Covid-19,” notes Pier.

“As many of our artists are currently on national or international tours, their travel plans are tied to their appearances at venues across the country and the world. Given this, we are in daily communication with their representatives. We expect to have more information soon on a show-by-show basis that may result in further postponements or cancellations.”

The Center will be issuing refunds to ticket buyers for the cancelled performances. For more information, patrons should visit the Harris Center website at <https://www.harriscenter.net/visit/coronavirus>

In addition to events taking place at the Harris Center, the Los Rios Community College District is also cancelling all athletic events, other performing arts
